

Nate Haller
Bio Update - Sept 2021

General

From a young age, Nate Haller breathed, lived and loved music. Mentored by Zubin Thakkar (MD for Shawn Mendes), and having played alongside Canada's top artists, most recently The Reklaws, Nate has lived through a crash course of the music industry in his 10+ years in the biz. Signed to Starseed Entertainment (James Barker Band, The Reklaws, Jade Eagleson), 2021 saw Nate command centre stage. "Lightning In A Bottle," Nate's debut track released earlier this year, grabbed the #2 most added spot at Canadian Country radio and landed more adds than Canada's own Justin Bieber and country-superstar Luke Bryan (week of 04.20.21). "Lightning In A Bottle" landed Nate his first Top 10 at Canadian country radio. This was followed up with the digital release of "Grew Up On," a track that brought his farm-town upbringing to life. His latest single, Somewhere To Drink (featuring Brett Kissel and The Reklaws) is currently at radio.

In the short time since his debut, the Ontario native was named as iHeart Radio's Future Star and has also featured on the front cover of Apple's CANADA'S COUNTRY playlist and Spotify's ALL ABOUT COUNTRY playlist. With a soft, caring side that pairs seamlessly with an undeniable gritty sound and style that only a small-town boy with heart and determination can offer, Nate brings a new enthusiasm and edge to the Canadian country genre. Approaching 5M global streams across 3 releases to date, fans can expect new music and tour dates in 2022. Learn more about Nate Haller at <https://www.natehaller.com/>